

IX. DAWN OF EURASIA 2024 Conference Call

For the ninth time, the Eurasian Center announces its PhD, MA conference entitled „Dawn of Eurasia” to which it is pleased to invite those PhD, MA and BA students whose research area or interests are related to the conference theme.

Co-organizer:

- Hungarian-Chinese Youth Friendship Association.

Date: December 5, 2025

Time: 10:00-15:00

Place: Budapest, Infopark sétány 11.

The language of the conference: English and Hungarian.

Abstract deadline: November 10, 2025.

Registration as a speaker is possible if an extended excerpt on the topic (between 300 and 500 words) is submitted within the above deadline.

The extended excerpts will be published in a volume with an ISBN number after the conference.

The Eurasia Review will provide publication opportunities for the best full papers (approx. 6,000 words) submitted by the conference date.

The economic and political rise of the vast Eurasian continent is one of the most discussed and researched topics of the last decade in the field of international relations, geopolitics, and geoeconomics. As is so often the case with these concepts, the concept of Eurasia is interpreted in complex and diverse ways, and the key concept itself can often even become blurred and unclear as social scientists attempt to interpret the new reality. At the same time, each new period brings with it the renewal of the institutional, political, and economic framework, which also means the redefinition of ideas, concepts, and goals.

The Eurasia Center welcomes presentations analyzing the rise of the region on the following topics:

1. economics,
2. politics,
3. technology,
4. finance and infrastructure.

DRAFT PROGRAM

10:00-11:45 Plenary session

The conference will begin with a plenary presentation of the issues of the fifth volume of Eurázsia Szemle (Eurasia Era), an academic journal published by the Eurasia Center, followed by a session presentation.

11:45-12:30 Lunch Break

12:30-15:00 Lectures

To give a presentation at the conference we invite you to register at the following address:
eurasiacenter@nje.hu.